The Gold Room Animated and Active-Effect of Treasury Telegrams.

NEW YORK, August 24 .- The Gold Room presented a scene of animation and activity throughout the day, with only an occasional luit. At the opening the mar-ket started off brilliantly, and rapidly ad-vanced from 16% to 17%, and from 17% to 17%. Leading brokers, who are accredited agents of a supposed pool, were nominally flerce buyers, but actually large sellers; heres buyers, but actually large sellers; through other parties they succeeded in selling a very large amount before the close at the highest figures, and then left the market to itself. This caused a reaction to 174, at which point the market refused to yield further. Here was a crisis for the bulls, who had no idea of hidding up the prices, and buying back gold at higher prices. Something had to be done to shake out the weak buils and e to shake out the weak buils and he done to shake the line sees that the free short interest preparatory to another rise. It is difficult patch to the United States. It is difficult to obtain accurate news of what has taken place at Chalons or in its neighborhood at the War Department. They peremptorily retuse to say anything on the subject, but some of the papers, the Patrie and Press among others, announce that the troops of McMahon and Failley have succeeded in reaching Ardennes, and that a finant march from that place will effect a junction with Bazaine. I believe some of the troops lately encamped at Chalons have gone thither, but I cannot affirm. Nothing certain. Am assured that the Prussian Prince Royal has given up his direct march on Paris, and that he awaits for the Prussian army before Metz to deliver a great battle. Other dispatches say he is at Bar Le Duc. Everything from that direction is confused, and I believe that these reports are put in circulation by the enemy to make the Parisians believe that all immediate danger has been dispelled, to calm their patrictic ardor to place the capital in a state of defense.
